IRISH HOME RULE BILL AROUSES WAR SPIRIT

FISHER IS AT END OF TOUR

Ending his tour of investigation of the islands with a forty-eight-hour stretch during which he did not take more than four or five hours' sleep, Secretary Walter L. Fisher this morning arrived in Honolulu on the Mauna Kea from Maui, after establishing a record for sustained and strenuous activity that even Teddy the Bull Moose might envy.

Leaving the home of A. W. Carter, at the Parker Ranch on Hawaii, early last Thursday morning, the Secretary of the Interior was almost constantly on the move, setting a pace that left every other member except Governor Frear and Prince Kuhio utterly fagged when the party finally reached home.

During that time only two hearings were conducted, the remainder of the time being devoted to rapid journeys from one point to another, sightseeing and inspection of the various industries.

The itinerary was as follows: Arriving at the Kohala Club Thursday noon, lunch and a brief hearing at the opera house; a swift automobile run to Mahukona to catch the Kilauea; arrival at McGregor's Landing at 8 o'clock Thursday evening; journey up to Ohiwa, the home of W. O. Aiken, by automobile; hour and a half's rest, then up on horseback to Haleakala's crater, where the Secretary and his party remained in the biting cold until some time after sunrise; return to Ohiwa, down the mountain again by auto to W. O. Aiken's home at Puna; a tour around the island, inspection of the Hailu homestead lands, the pineapple cannery of the Hailu Fruit & Packing Co., the Maliko bridge of the Kahului Railway; luncheon at the home of J. N. S. Williams, general manager of the Kahului Railway; inspection of the Kahului breakwater and Maui's sole present wharf; then into Wailuku, to the courthouse, where the Secretary was tendered a reception and concluded the meeting with a public hearing; driving around the winding pali road twenty-eight miles through the dark to the home of Manager L. Weinheimer of the Pioneer Mill Company at Lahaina, where dinner was served; boarding the Mauna Kea at 1 o'clock this morning and arriving in Honolulu shortly before 7 o'clock.

Even at the end of this strenuous period the Secretary appeared un-

FISHER TO SIFT RAILROAD LAW AND IMMIGRATION

Line of Inquiry Suggested by Ashford During Hawaii Trip

Charges involving the Territorial administration with Kuhio's complaints against the immigration laws passed by the last Legislature, and the alleged restrictions on the freedom of labor brought here are to be sifted by Secretary Fisher during the hearings next week, according to intimations given during his trip on Hawaii.

Another matter to be probed is the workings of a law passed by the last Legislature making it a misdemeanor for persons to be upon railroad rights of way and absolving the roads from responsibility for accidents under such circumstances.

Intimation of the nature of these charges was given by Attorney Ashford last Wednesday evening, while the Secretary and his party sat on the lanai of the hotel at Honokaa, Hawaii, following the interesting hearing of the Portuguese home-steader's complaints in the courthouse nearby.

Secretary Fisher displayed serious concern in the new charges, and declared that he intends probing them thoroughly before leaving the islands. These, as briefly stated in the Star-Bulletin last Thursday, are the cause of the labor agent troubles, taking up the instance of the steamship Senator in particular, and the railroad accident laws passed by the last Legislature and approved by Governor Frear.

JAGGAR FOR BIG NATIONAL PARK SCHEME

[Special Star-Bulletin Aerogram]

HILO, Sept. 28.—A big feature was given the banquet last night that ended the Hilo civic convention when Prof. T. A. Jaggar, the Boston Tech. expert, who has been observing the volcano for some months, declared that Secretary of the Interior Fisher told him that he would not pass favorably upon the present plans for the Kilauea national park. Prof. Jaggar said that it will be necessary to establish a national park bureau first, and Jaggar urged emphatically that all legitimate influence, political and otherwise, be exerted to forward such a bureau. He stated that the proposed national park plan should be broadened, and advocates including Haleakala, Maui, in the reserve, putting all into one comprehensive scheme which, he thought, would pass Mr. Fisher.

HILO CONFERENCE ACCOMPLISHED MUCH

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, Sept. 27.—The issuance of invitations by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce and the Honolulu Merchants' Association to the delegates assembled at the first civic convention, which met here today, to meet next year in Honolulu during the early part of September, and the further invitation of the Maui Chamber of Commerce to meet in Wailuku any time within a year, but preferably on July 4, were features of the civic conference here. The invitations were issued at the session on Thursday.

President Elliot of the Hilo Board of Trade stated his plans as originally mapped out. They called for a Territorial civic body backed up by island bodies. He stated he had found them premature, however, and had switched to the present program.

Then it was that the Honolulu and Maui bodies, seeing the opening, issued their invitations, which were accepted.

Louis von Tempsky of Maui explained that owing to Secretary Fisher's visit many of the Maui men were unable to come and that the four who did come did not represent Maui's only share of interest in the proceedings.

The invitation of the Honolulu bodies was accepted in due form during the evening session.

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, Sept. 26.—At the opening of the evening session G. H. Vickers presented the following resolution which was unanimously accepted.

"That this convention acknowledges the courtesy of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce and the Honolulu Merchants' Association in its invitation to hold a convention of the Civic Organizations in Honolulu next year and recommends to those organizations that such invitation be cordially accepted."

The matter of forming a permanent organization was taken up. After a great deal of discussion during which it seemed at one time as though an open break would occur and a lively fight, A. Mason of Kohala who was in the chair poured oil on the troubled water, and the matter passed off.

The trouble arose over the proposed formation of a Territorial civic body. Some of the Hilo men were inclined to rush things through and make the delegates bind their various organizations to whatever action was taken at the convention should be final.

FISHER PLANS TO LEAVE WITH KNOX

While no recent word has been received from Secretary of State Knox, who is en route homeward from Japan, Mr. Fisher's present plans are to join him at this port, ending the inquiry with the sailing of the Maryland.

Secretary Knox's original plan, to visit the volcano on Hawaii before proceeding to the Coast, may be altered, because the crater is not very active at the present time and would prove something of a disappointment to him, as it did to Mr. Fisher, who was unable to catch more than a fleeting glimpse of the boiling lavas pits. For that reason Knox's stay in the Territory this time may be brief.

ARMY BUYS 70 HAWAII HORSES FOR CAVALRY

morning from a mission to Hawaii the successful result of which links the islands and the army still more closely together. Major Cheatham purchased on the Big Island seventy head of remounts for the Cavalry, and it is probable that this transaction is the opening wedge of a policy to be adopted by the War Department, of securing all the horses needed by the Jahu troops locally, instead of importing them from the remount depots in continental United States.

The horse buyers came home well satisfied with the results of their trip, and well tanned by the blistering sun of Hawaii. They wasted no time, arrangements having been made before-

Escaped Convict Chased Through Streets; Captured

Police Hunt Down Man Who Throws Away Coin as He Runs

Sam Kahi, fugitive from justice, who broke away from a chain-gang, a week ago, was captured by Police Officer Hobron, following an exciting chase through the downtown section of the city this morning.

Running pell-mell down Nuuanu avenue, and turning into Hotel street in the direction of the river, the escaping prisoner, scattered a shower of golden and silver coin in his wake.

Kahi eluded his captors for a time, several officers joining in the man hunt. During the chase, the greatest excitement prevailed along the route pursued by the fleeing man and the police.

Kahi took French leave of the little band of prisoners while they were being taken to one of the local parks for exercise.

He made his escape two days following his conviction and sentence in the district court.

Charged with a series of burglaries and petty thieving Kahi was found guilty on four separate counts and was committed to the keeping of Jailor Asch for a period of eighteen months.

In making his get away, Kahi is alleged by McDuffie to have gone back to his old life, and a number of small burglaries committed within the past week were laid to his door.

Kahi surrendered when Hobron caught up to him and consented to return to the station without putting up much of a fight.

Kahi appears to have rented two separate rooms, one located at Queen's Hotel and the other at the Popular House. It was at the first named place that his identity was established by a lodger, and when recognized, Kahi did not deny the allegation that he was the muchly wanted man.

A telephone message to the police station this morning put the officers on a fresh scent. Their arrival at the Queen Hotel as well as the Popular House caused Kahi to take to his heels. He covered a route that included some high and lofty tumbling with the vaulting of back fences and stone walls.

A search made of his room at the two lodging houses resulted in the recovery of a large quantity of loot. Trinkets of various assortment were found in a basket. Several vases, hardwood calabashes, jewelry and ornaments were found.

When searched at the station less than two dollars and a cheap watch was found on the person of the fugitive.

The police claim that between forty and fifty dollars in coin was scattered by Kahi during his brief flight through town.

Rosenthal's Wife Poisoned

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Fear that she would disclose the secrets of the police graft conspiracy, the knowledge of which upon her husband's part caused his murder, resulted in an attempt to poison the widow of Herman Rosenthal according to her private physician. He charges no conspiracy.

MARCONI PLANS ARE OUTLINED

[Special Star-Bulletin Aerogram]
